

I understand that the Consumer Banker's Association is trying to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law by invoking the established business relationship clause in the federal law. IT IS NOT my wish that this be allowed. I used to be inundated by telemarketers prior to the law, and now have my life back in the evening. Even though it would be limited to "established" relationships, I currently bank with 4 entities and have credit cards from 5 other sources. If they want to solicit me, they can mail me something and I will look at it in my own time. I do not wish to be bothered at home with phone calls. DO NOT ALLOW THIS CIRCUMVENTION OF ONE OF THE BEST THINGS THAT HAVE HAPPENED TO MY RIGHTS AS A CONSUMER IN A LONG TIME!
